- 6 Imagine that you are an agony aunt for a conservative nineteenth-century Russian women's magazine. You receive a letter from Anna Karenina. She tells you:
- She is having an affair with Vronsky.
 - She is pregnant with his baby.
 - She is terrified about what her husband will do if he finds out.
 - She doesn't want to lose her other child, Sasha.
 - She is afraid if she does leave her husband that Vronsky will leave her too.

Write a reply to Anna, giving her advice on what she should do.

- 7 How are attitudes towards men and women different in Anna Karenina? Imagine you are going to rewrite the novel set in the 21st century, maybe in the style of a soap opera. How would the story be different? Write a summary of a modern-day Anna Karenina with all the appropriate plot changes.
